

“A realistic investment which will contribute to reducing my fuel bills”

February 2010

George Bannatyne, Isle Of Arran

A concern about the future of the planet prompted George Bannatyne to have two 25 tube solar thermal panels installed at his two self-catering cottages in Arran.

Installed in February 2010, the panels replaced two oil fired Agas and will certainly prove more cost-effective to run. Mr Bannatyne is aiming for a 40% reduction in his fuel bills with this and other cost savings.
